Overview

The Provence Workshop will centre around the beautiful region of Southern France and will offer a wide variety of different locations and photographic opportunities. Provence's unique appeal combines the charm and beauty of ancient towns and villages with a landscape famously decorated with its fields of lavender. The workshop runs during July so as to coincide with important dates and moments in the Provence calendar. In July, Provence's many fields of lavender blossom before being harvested, and we take full advantage of this by visiting and photographing some of the more beautiful fields and villages.

For the latter part of the workshop we transfer a little further south to the coastal area of Camargue. The Camargue is an area that in many ways seems more like Argentina or Spain. Famous for its wild white horses that roam the area, its bulls, flamingoes and other wildlife, the area is a haven for any lover of the wild. We wanted our workshop also to coincide with the Camargue Horse Festival, a time when the towns are full of shows or horsemanship, white horses running through the streets and flamenco dancing until the early hours. This trip combines the very best that Provence has to offer as well as a very wide variety of photographic opportunities. Whether your passion is photographing people, architecture, wildlife, events or landscape, this workshop has something for you.

On the day of your departure we will transfer all participants to Marseille at a fixed time so that you can move onto your homeward journeys. Usual arrival at Marseille airport 11am

Accommodation

The Provence Workshop is situated in two regions. The first half of the workshop is spent amongst the lavender fields in the Provence region. For the second half of the workshop you will be transferred south to the Camargue region. For the first part of the workshop the hotel will be 'Hotel Le Gordos'. Situated in the heart of the Luberon, at the entrance of Gordes, a picturesque village perched on a hill, one of the most desired locations, hotel Le Gordos offers you calm, freshness and relaxation, in a luxury location, surrounded by a magnificent park. All rooms are furnished with air conditioning.

For the second part of the workshop the hotel will be 'Hotel Les Templiers' situated in Aigues Mortes. In this hotel, the decoration is out of ordinary, out of any fashion. The atmosphere is warm and rustic; stone walls, secondhand and antique dealer furniture and accessories mix harmoniously with contemporary and modern art features. This charming place blends eclectic and exotic together. The 2 owners, Igor and Anne, aimed at creating a living place where their personal objects and furniture and their travel souvenirs can be displayed, a place where one can feel like at home. The hotel rooms reflect the nature of the hotel: diversity and aestetism. All rooms are different, standardization has been kept to a minimum. The rooms will be allocated randomly.

Travel

For this workshop you will need to fly into the main international airport at Marseille

For the pickup on arrival day (7 July) you will need to be at Marseille airport at 5pm. For the drop-off, we will return all participants to Marseille airport on 15 July at 10am.

Companions

Photography is a passion that touches millions of people, but that doesn't always mean that it is shared throughout your family! A great many of our participants choose to travel with their husbands, wives or partners, and we make every effort to make them just as welcome as everybody else. Should you wish to attend with your partner and require a double room upgrade, please contact us for a quote and further details.

Please note that a non-participant will need to have their own transportation for the duration of the workshop as space in our vehicles is limited.

The Photography

What makes our Provence Workshop so very unique is the variety and breadth of subject matter for the photographer. The regions we visit are not only spectacularly beautiful, but they offer a vast range of opportunities. Starting in the Provence region, the first few days of the workshop focuses on the incredible fields of lavender that blossom at this time of the year. The countryside comes alive with colour and perfume, which are both a real joy to witness and photograph. There will also be visits to some of Provence's most picturesque villages and towns, including Gordes, Roussillon and Avignon. There will be chance to photograph the Provencal way of life, the markets, the locals, and naturally plenty of opportunity to sample the food and wine.

For the second part of the workshop, we transfer south to the Camargue region by the coast. The Camargue has been likened to Argentina or Spain, with its strong tradition of working with horses and bulls. Some of the photographic highlights of Camargue will be a private photo shoot in the early morning light of the region's famous white horses, running through the water. The workshop also coincides with the annual 'Festival du Cheval', an event that sees the town of Les Saintes Maries de la Mer come alive with bulls being run through the streets by the 'Guardians', flamenco dancers and other equestrian events and shows. We also visit a bird reserve in the late afternoon where there are hundreds of flamingos and other wild birds to photograph. An incredibly varied trip with some truly unique photographic experiences.

Teaching

Teaching will be in the form of out-in-the-field hands-on practice, talks and demonstrations, and image review sessions. During the summer months we tend to use the brightest part of the day to sit down and review the previous days work. Reviews are done on laptops, which we recommend you bring. Out in the field, the teacher will introduce each shoot, make any necessary demonstrations, and always be nearby to assist you whilst you are shooting. Review sessions are conducted on most days and are one of the most important parts of our teaching process.

Is this for me?

Our Provence offering is what we call a 'Workshop'. This means that it is open to all skill levels. Our Workshops involve critique sessions on most days, and our emphasis is on the photography first and foremost. We try to strike a balance between showing our participants important places and landmarks, whilst avoiding going down the route of a 'tour' company. Travel is very often an integral part of workshops, and when we design our itineraries, we keep this in mind. We design our days to be full so that for those with the energy - they will never be bored - and those who wish to adopt a slower pace - they can do so by opting out of certain activities.

Our passion is photography, and we welcome all of you that share this love. One of the great benefits of learning in a group, is the knowledge you also gain from those around you. New ideas, shared critiques and a good sense of camaraderie are ingredients we actively try to encourage in all of our trips.

Inspiration

Introduction

Below you will find a collection of photographers, writers and films chosen to awaken your senses. They may inspire you about the location or they may just intrigue you. Either way please use this as an insight into the experiences and impressions of others. International travel is so easy these days. The pace at which one travels and 'sees' the world gets faster and faster. If you feel like it, take a moment to slow the process down.

Forums

We have our own online forum that over the years has proven to be a very popular and useful way of not just keeping in touch after a workshop, but also before. It can be a fascinating source of information for those considering their first workshop with VSP. You will need to register to join the forum, and we recommend the following two sections

Ask a past VSP Workshops participant (<http://www.vspworkshops.com/cgi-bin/yabb2/YaBB.pl?board=feedback/>)

Discussion board for all participants booked on Wild Horses & Lavender Workshop (<http://www.vspworkshops.com/cgi-bin/yabb2/YaBB.pl?num=1191519725>)

Testimonials

"Your Workshop was fantastic - beneficial to the novice as the seasoned veteran. A wide variety of shooting opportunities and activities. Daily critique session were incredibly helpful, seeing what other photographers, hearing what everyone thought of other's photos. I would recommend the VSP Workshop to anyone who wants "total immersion" experience in photography"
Nancy, USA, 2007

"Well, "the experience of a life-time" doesn't even come close to describing this workshop. The planning that went into it must have been immense and intense; the result was simply "The Best".
Richard, UK, 2006

"I came away with much more than you can imagine. You literally opened my eyes to a new world. I will never look through a camera viewfinder again in the same way as before. You set your students at ease, clearly state your objectives and fairly assess the outcome"
James, USA, 2004

"Not only did I go home with by far more excellent shots than expected, I even met a lot of friends and it was a pleasure being able to share my time with all of them. Hope I'll be able to attend one of VSP's workshops in the future.."
Josef, Germany, 2005

"I run my own company and I know how demanding it is to offer good customer service and how important it is to provide it. Every VSP Workshops I so far attended has always been better than I expected. I could learn a lot about customer service from VSP as it always exceed its participants expectations.
Witek, Spain, 2006

"Excellent value! Learned a lot - enjoyed the relaxed environment. Very much appreciated the personal attention. Great organization. Looking forward to more workshops. VSP works for me! Thank you."
Dan, USA, 2007
